Trouble using MS Internet Explorer?

As some of our visitors have reported, problems may occur with MS Internet Explorer after you have logged in to the Member Service. If you select other sections of the Member Service, e.g. Product Info, you will get a message reading that you need to be logged in to continue.

This problem occurs due to current settings of MS Internet Explorer, which do not allow session cookies. To solve this problem continue as follows:

- In MS Internet Explorer select the Tools menu > Internet options.
- Select the Privacy tab in the opening dialog.
- Press the Advanced button.
- Enable the checkbox Always allow session cookies.
- Press OK to close this dialog and press OK again to close the Internet Options dialog and apply the settings.

The problem should no longer occur and you can select other sections without the need to log in again. If the problem persists, if you have difficulties in finding the desired setting or if you have any other question, please select the Member section in the top navigation bar and select Contact Us on the left pane to send in your request.

You do not have access to our Member Service yet? Then also use the instructions given above to submit your request for access data.

Enjoy exploring our Ziehm Imaging Member Service!
